

Crossing Bridges

There's a decision to be made
It's weighing on my mind
I'm not going to make it tonight
I've got other things on my mind.

When the day is long and feeling longer
And you're digging deep to be a little stronger.
And you're in for a penny,
When you'd rather be in for a pound.

I'm just trying to keep life and soul together
Trying to avoid the stormy weather
I want a room with a view, where things can only get better!

When you're feeling out of place
Why is everything a race?
And you wonder why you're there
And do you really care?

I will cross that bridge when I get to it
Climb that mountain if I have to.
I know that people won't always agree
I'll cross that bridge when I get to it.
